COLLEGE & CAREER ADVICE

Preparing for college can be an exciting, yet stressful time. That's why the Young Leaders Society is launching the Pen Pal Project.

This program is an opportunity for high school seniors to connect with young professionals in our community. At a time when we can all use more "pals," this program will provide a way for young leaders to communicate with students planning to pursue a college education, where they can ask questions, share ideas and build a strong foundation of peer mentorship.

Sign up today and you will be matched with a young leader in our community who is a college graduate. Ask them any questions you have regarding college and career planning. They'll share tips on navigating campus life, excelling in classes and getting involved with extra-curriculars.
