Create the I am Joe's paper by using the body systems (skeletal, muscular, nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory, and digestive systems) as your big topics. Write your paper in the first person voice as is shown in the link that you click on for the example paper. You must write about each of the six body systems mentioned, mentioning several organs, functions, and problems as you write. I would suggest a length of approximately one page per body system. Give details explaining the important functions of the organs & systems that you choose. Using MLA format, complete in-text citations as well as a works cited page. You must use your own words when completing this assignment. Copying and pasting from the Internet and claiming the work as your own is plagiarism and will not be accepted.
